250	Sutter Buttes State Park	State park	Sutter	1,785 acres (722 ha)	2003	Privately owned, funded by the state	This state park is notable for the sutter buttes. These are small buttes: circular, eroded volcanic lava domes. The highest peak, South Butte, reaches about 2,130 feet (650 m) above sea level. Sutter Buttes are sometimes referred to as the world's smallest mountain range.

265	Van Damme State Park	State park	Mendocino	2,336 acres (945 ha)	1932		Van Damme State Park is famous for a special tract of pygmy forest. The California Pygmy Forest is displayed very nicely by a boardwalk and nature trail. California Pygmy Forests have poor soil. This weak soil creates a marsh ecosystem of stunted trees, and in the California case, three particular plants: the cypress tree, the pine tree, and the rhododendron. This dwarf forest is a vulnerable habitat, and therefore a National Natural Landmark.
